Chaffey's 1907 pupils cost $364,460.78, or an average per pupil of $188.84.

Only one high school district in the county had a lower per pupil cost, that being Needles, with 129 pupils at an average cost of $188.84.

The expenses of the eight high schools totaled $1,383,218.29 with the costs ranging from $21,896.64 for Needles to $544,525.86 for San Bernardino.

UPLAND FAMILY IS HOME FROM NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Archie L. Moore and Daughter Spend Vacation in Washington

Camping for five weeks on a green, forest-clad island in Puget Sound, whose waters are dotted with many islands, and motoring for an equal length of time through the forests and over the mountains of the Pacific northwest, have served to make coming home and going to work a rather difficult task for Archie L. Moore, member of the Chaffey faculty, who, with Mrs. Moore and their youngest daughter, little Betty Faith, returned to Upland Saturday.

Leaving Upland 10 weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Moore visited a few days with friends in San Francisco and in Yreka with Mrs. Moore's brother, Harold Knox and family, formerly residents of Ontario.

In Portland, where the Moores formerly lived for several years, they stopped for a few days with friends and Mr. Moore sang at the meeting of the Portland Rotary club.

Continuing northward through Washington by way of Olympia and Tacoma, the travelers reached Puget Sound and from Anacotes they went by ferry to Orcas island, one of the larger of the 172 islands that freckle the waters of the sound, not including the scores of smaller specks of land that are not large enough for recognition.

Orcas island, Mr. Moore says, is one of the most beautiful places he ever has seen. There are several small settlements on the island, each with its old-time general store as its center. The island is timbered with fir, cedar, hemlock and the beautiful madrona tree and is completely surrounded by fish, to judge from the pictures Mr. Moore brought home, and any gap the fishes might leave is filled in with clams of enormous size.

After five weeks of back-to-nature life on this island, the Moores ferried to Victoria on Vancouver island for three days of exploration among the textile factories, including those turning out pure Irish linen, and they secured an interesting collection of gifts for "those back home."

From Victoria they went, again by ferry, to Port Angelus, Wash., and motored down the west side of Puget Sound to Hood's canal drive, over which they reached Portland and at Reedsport, below that city, they came into the Roosevelt highway, which they followed home.

The vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Moore declare, was one of the most enjoyable they ever have had.

Dr. Wimpress Home From Northern Trip

Dr. C. H. Wimpress and his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Wimpress, accompanied by Miss Julia Beattie, have returned from a four weeks motor trip during which they went as far north as points in British Columbia.

The trip was made at this time so that Dr. Wimpress might attend the national convention of osteapathic physicians in Seattle, and a week was spent in that city. Numerous sightseeing trips were made in that district and the trip into British Columbia was an interesting one.

STREET NAMES MAY RECEIVE NEW STUDY

City Planning Commission Will Get Four Protest Petitions Thursday

Referred back to the city planning commission by the city council, four protests against the proposed plan to change the names of Upland streets will get consideration of the commission either at Thursday's meeting or at a later meeting.

W. K. Beattie, chairman, said today he did not know whether the name situation would be considered. For several months the commission has considered the proposed change in names and it is very likely that the matter will be either re-considered or dropped.

It was proposed to give local streets names of trees and the city council last week was ready to consider the changes. Four petitions, protesting the change, however, resulted in the city officials referring the matter back to the commission.

Mrs. Williams Hears Death of Relatives in Motor Accident

News of an automobile tragedy in Hutchinson, Kan., has brought sadness to an Upland relative of the victims. Mrs. R. C. Williams has received word that her cousin, Mrs. John P. Huxman, of Moundridge, Kan., and her son, Daniel, 16, and daughter, Louise, 19, were instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a train at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 16.

The three had been to Newton to visit Mr. Huxman who is in the hospital there, and were en route to Pretty Prairie to visit relatives.

Hutchinson recently enacted a city ordinance prohibiting the blowing of train whistles within the city limits. As the Huxman car reached a dangerous blind crossing, the speeding train struck without warning, resulting in the three deaths.

Of the family of five, only the father, who is ill, and a 12 year old son are left.

There are many former Kansas residents in Upland who know the Huxman family.

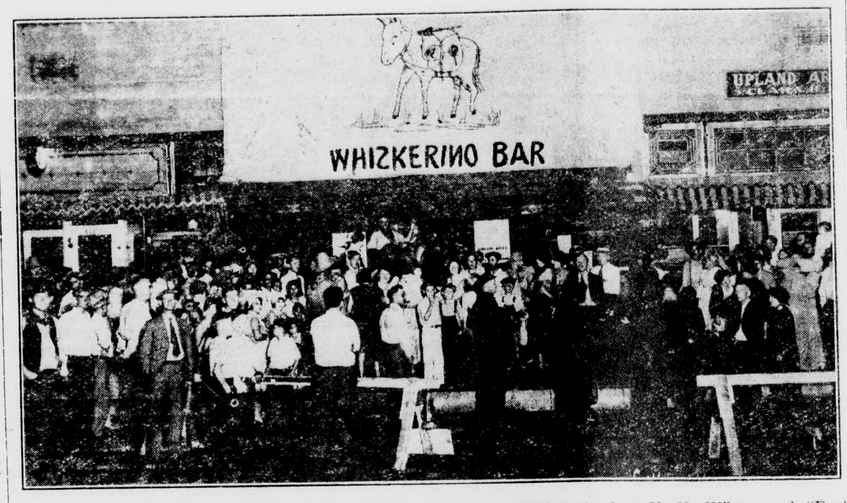

Home Talent Program Given by 20-30 Club

It was "home talent" meeting at the Upland 20-30 club in The Sycamores last night.

The speakers were J. Loraine Loch who spoke on X-ray and fingerprinting; Wayne Kelley, who told of the unemployment insurance and of its effects in European countries, and Willard Dettweiler, who discussed feet ailments.

The club's international convention will be held in Long Beach next month and plans for the local delegation attending were discussed.

1500 Drinks Served From Whiskerino Bar In One Day

Serving 1500 drinks on Saturday and climaxing the day with what had all the appearances of a raid of dry-squad officers, the Whiskerino bar is today one of the most popular places in Upland.

With the bar-room crowded and with many persons in the vicinity of the establishment, sirens sang their tune of warning. Police officers came from both directions and entered from both the front and rear doors. They planned to arrest the bartenders and the persons inside.

Their plans went astray, however, with the result that Judge James Sharp, acting as mediator, fined each of the officers $1. There were eight law enforcers present. John D. Howe also sought to get an additional fine from Carmen S. Lehman, Upland traffic officer, on a charge of leaving his car in the public highway. A jury to determine the extent of violation was formed, but before they could inspect the case Ralph Dark, another local officer, had moved the machine to a safe place.

Empty barrels piled three high were placed outside the door yesterday. The sawdust is becoming worn and the once shiny rail is getting dull with use. Bartenders V. H. Wilson and "Doc" O. W. Kankel serve new customers along with the old standbys.

That Upland is the center of one of the old-time bars, and that many men and women are wearing pioneer clothes are facts that have spread rapidly throughout the southland. Through the efforts of Miss Elizabeth Hawkins and through the cooperation of the newspapers in the southland, much is being printed about this city's historic celebration scheduled for Sept. 9.

All proceeds of the whiskerino bar go towards the Pioneer Pilgrimage celebration fund.

CARE OF PROPOSED PARK SITE SOUGHT

Local Group Can Do Civic Turn by Sponsoring Beautification of Corner

Possibility of some local organization taking over the care of the former golf course lot on Second avenue at the Pacific Electric tracks was being considered today, with the city agreeing to furnish the water.

Mrs. Katie Puehler, owner of the land, has permitted its use as a beauty spot and the plan is to have someone responsible for the care of the shrubbery and trees already planted. The equipment used in the miniature golf course game a year ago is to be removed and further than the care of the present plantings, there will be little work.

The Pacific Electric will be unable to do anything toward the maintenance of the property and it is hoped that some local organization will assume the project as a civic undertaking.

If the shrubbery and trees are cared for immediately, they can be maintained as an attraction and will improve the corner that would otherwise be an eyesore to persons riding through on the Pacific Electric.

2 Exhibition Games Scheduled This Week

Two exhibition games are today scheduled for this week, along with the regular games in the Upland night league.

These teams have played each other on at least five previous occasions and the exhibition game will see the Lemon Growers getting their present pitching staff into shape.

Regular games scheduled are Guasti and Ontario three A's tomorrow night and Atwood's and Woodmen Friday night.

Tax Rate Is 9 Cents Lower Than 1926-27

DISASTROUS FIRE LEADS TO CHANGE

City Will Install Larger Water Pipes Following Fire at Liberty Groves

Guarding against another fire tragedy which early Saturday morning caused a loss estimated at $8500 at the Liberty Groves Operating corporation, city was today preparing to place six-inch water pipes on Nineteenth street east of Euclid avenue.

Cause of the fire, which burned 10 mules, 2 horses, 75 tons of hay, a large barn and harnesses, is unknown. Starting in the hayloft, the flames gained headway immediately and the small water pipes prevented the Upland fire department from doing what it could to quench the flames.

Richard G. Manley, city service manager, said that the new pipes would enable 1000 gallons of water a minute being used while the present small pipes allowed only 200 gallons a minute passing through the mains.

As soon as the fire insurance adjustors complete their work, plans will be considered for the construction of a new building.

Flames, which were noticed by H. G. Tinsley, superintendent, about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, smoldered for hours and the loss included all but two of the animals owned by the corporation. T. R. Woodbridge is president of the corporation and he has discarded the theory that the fire was started intentionally.

While on a tour of the orient several years ago Mr. Lewis became intimately acquainted with the royal family. The prince of Siam and his family number among their friends some of the leading motion picture actors and producers, including Douglas Fairbanks, who was a visitor at their home in Siam.

Championship Series Start Monday

Championship series baseball games will be next week with the Upland Lemon Growers certain to be one team and Atwood's nine the likely opponents in the "three-out-of-five-game" program.

Only the Woodmen to defeat yet, Atwoods are favored to come through the second half with a 1000 per cent average. The Atwood - Woodmen mix comes Friday.

As planned now, the first title game will be played next Monday, with games on Wednesday and Friday and the following Monday and Wednesday, if necessary. They will start at 8 o'clock.

With Dave Meek out of the line-up, Enos Leaman's hope for a pennant is not bright. In fact, the series looks like it would go to Glenn Atwood's players without much dispute, unless one of the packers can be developed into a strong pitcher during the next few days.

The Lemon Growers won the first round title after a tie playoff with Etiwanda.

STARTING OF FIRE COSTS WORKER $25

Clarence Slape, Ontario, Is Fined For Ignoring Forest Rules

Sum of $25 was paid by Clarence Slape, Ontario, today for starting a fire on West Twenty-sixth street, in the area closed by forest regulations. Police said he had no permit to burn and that the fire he started was within a very short distance of an area thickly covered by brush.

The fire was started on West Twenty-sixth street across from the Bradshaw grove. Mr. Slape told Judge George R. Crane he was burning prunings.

The original fine was $50, but half of the amount was suspended.

Another asserted violator of the law was Edison A. Little, Pomona, who was sent to the county jail for 10 days on a charge of reckless driving and failure to stop at a boulevard sign. The motorist drove on Euclid avenue over the Tenth street intersection without stopping and he was driving recklessly, it was charged.

LOCAL WEARERS OF PIONEER CLOTHES TO BE IN PAGEANT

Persons Wanting to March in Pilgrimage to Call at Chamber Office

WILL LEND 'ATMOSPHERE'

Spanish Fiesta Program For Evening to Include Many Features

The general public may have a part in the Pioneer Pilgrimage procession Sept. 9 by wearing pioneer costumes and marching at the rear of the pageant as the result of plans completed today by Gene Nisbet, pageant director.

Persons wanting to be in the procession and who will wear pioneer clothes are to sign at the chamber of commerce office by Sept. 5. This feature was not included in the pilgrimage of a year ago, but it will be included in the event next month to lend "color" and enthusiasm.

Mr. Nisbet was emphatic in declaring that if persons want to be in the procession, they must call at the chamber office and receive instructions. All persons volunteering to be in the line of march will have a reserved space at the Madonna of the Trail monument so they will be favored with a good position to hear the program.

Final details for the program at the monument have not been completed, but it is known the features will include the appearance of several southland dignitaries and some of the state's pioneer residents. A loud speaking system enabling persons to hear the program even though they are several blocks away has been arranged for.

Among the pre-celebration events that will be of interest are the Pioneer Pilgrimage week program at the Upland theater starting next Tuesday and the pioneer program at Camp Baldy, Sept. 2.

The committee under the direction of Ernest H. Gibson is completing arrangements for the Pioneer Pilgrimage and Robert E. Baker of the Upland theater is planning several popular features for the Spanish Fiesta to be held during the evening, following the pageant in the morning.

SON JOINS FATHER WHO SHOOTS SELF

Paul Darling Will Survive Attempts to Die; Youth Returns Home

Death failed to come twice at his beckoning and Paul L. Darling, Cucamonga citrus rancher, is today recovering from the effects of a self-inflicted gun wound. Major portion of his lower jaw bone shot away and his face horribly mutilated, Mr. Darling will survive if no complications are experienced, it is the belief of hospital attendants. A 30-30 army rifle was used by the man Sunday morning in an attempt to end his life, following a quarrel of Friday afternoon with his son.

The son, Paul L. Darling, Jr., 15 years of age, returned to his father yesterday afternoon, after leaving home Saturday. Nature of the quarrel on Friday is not known, but soon afterwards the father took poison. Rushed to the hospital, his condition was not serious and he was returned home Saturday morning at his request.

When the father returned home the son left and he was located Sunday at San Jose through radio and police efforts.

The second suicide attempt occurred Sunday morning in the citrus grove a short distance from the Darling residence. It is believed he placed the rifle between his legs, with the muzzle under his chin. His condition was reported out of danger today and comforted by the presence and forgiveness of his son, Mr. Darling is expected to survive.

The Darling family has resided in the Cucamonga district for several years, owning their grove on Archibald midway between Foothill boulevard and Arrow route.

Today's Bible Verse

Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.—Matt., 26:41.

The Ditch, the Hospital and the Morgue

Can't say that we have noticed any change in the speed of automobiles since the new California law permitting folks to drive 45 miles an hour on the boulevards and increasing the limit from 20 to 25 miles in business and residential districts. The crazy and reckless driver can't be any worse than he was before the new law—he breaks the speed limit no matter what it is. Usually he's reckless because he thinks it's smart—he's got by so far without killing himself and he seems to have the idea that luck will ride with him forever. Sometimes they get fooled, though, and one of them is killed or maimed for life—and perhaps he maims or kills several others at the same time.

The following from the San Rafael Independent may seem somewhat harsh and rough, but it certainly applies to a certain class of automobilists who are a threat danger every time they get on the road in a car:

"Now that the California speed limit has been raised to 45 miles an hour on the highway and to 20 to 25 in the residential and business districts, the state press will print editorials urging that motorists be courteous and considerate and cognizant of the other fellow's rights. That sort of advice is like water on a duck's back to the type of half-witted driver who needs it. Those who do not need such advice will eat it up but it won't do any good. The kind of driver who bombs down the center of a highway, passes on the wrong side and eventually winds up in a ditch, hospital and morgue, respectively and in the order named, never will think of the other fellow's rights, and courtesy is just another word to him. He thinks only of himself and the only way to penetrate his thick skull is by telling him of the things that may happen to others as a result of his stupidity. He should be addressed thus: 'You're a half-wit and there's not much use in trying to save you from your own folly. It would be far better were you to exterminate yourself quickly and decisively; but you have relatives who, for one reason or another like you and they might mourn if you were to be killed. Also, there is the chance that in putting an end to yourself you may carry one or two others with you. Naturally you don't give a hang about the possibility that you might kill or maim a fellow citizen; you're too dumb to think about that. However, you do think something of your own skin. The reason you're behaving as you are is that you think you're gosh awfully smart; that you can drive like hell and not get hurt. But there's where you're dumber than dumb. Eventually you'll have a head-on collision with a catastrophe and what's left of you won't be worth saving. Do you realize that hospitals, morgues and graveyards are crowded with reckless drivers who positively KNEW that they wouldn't be hurt? You're one of the same breed and your time is coming. Did you ever see the victim of an automobile crack-up? It's an unpleasant sight. Torn and mangled flesh isn't wholesome to look at. Come along with us and let's observe some other smart drivers. Here's one whose face will be scarred for life; here's another who has lost the sight of both eyes; here's a third who will be a cripple for life; here's a fourth who's entirely dead and, fortunately, out of his misery, because had he lived he would have been a loathsome sight. There, but for the grace of God, rest you. There, unless you use your head, you shall lie.'

The worst offender is the 'cute' kid. He's just learned to drive; he's proud of the fact that he owns or is allowed to use a car and he thinks it's courageous to drive fast. He likes to show off before his girl or his boy friends. He likes to frighten them when he gets them in his car. He thinks he's brave and clever when he turns a corner on two wheels and comes out of it alive. They deserve treatment that may best be administered in the woodshed—a treatment that reaches their brain through the seats of their trousers. Of course the aforementioned youngster isn't the only traffic menace. There are thousands of far older and far dumber heads at the wheel. These persons are congenital idiots and we know of no treatment that will cure them except a painful accident. Then it's too late."

Those who are advocating the five day week for labor as a cure for the unemployment situation should bear in mind the fact that one trouble with the plan is that organized labor will fight it, unless the laborer is to get the same wage for five days that he formerly got for six. But that cannot and should not be done. It would only serve to increase the cost of production and send prices higher. If the five day week becomes a reality it must be a case of the laborer now drawing six days wages giving over the work and wages of one day to some other man who does not now have a job. If the plan is to succeed it will call for some brotherly sacrifice on the part of labor.

In reading one of our middle west exchanges we see it stated that it is not credit the farmer needs, but a fair price for his products. No doubt this is true except in the drouth stricken sections. The farmer is already so far in debt that he cannot borrow any more money—because what he has left is not worth anything as security. His farm and property are already so deeply encumbered that his debt is more than his property will bring. In such instances as this it is absurd to ask him to provide security. An opportunity to get out of debt is what the farmer needs—not a chance to get in still deeper. And he can't get out until he gets a fair price for what he raises.

"Remember the good, old-fashioned girl who was satisfied if the boy friend blew in twenty-five cents on Saturday evening?" quizzes the LaHabra Star. Yeah, we remember her—she now has daughters who expect the boy friend to blow in anywhere from two dollars a night up, three or four nights a week.

—o—

According to a wise-cracker in The Humorist, whom we presume knows what he is talking about: "In some parts of the country the finding of a four-leaf clover is said to denote a forthcoming marriage. In others it is said to bring good luck."

—o—

It has long been considered that an automobile is a necessity—and now it has reached the stage where every family thinks there should be at least two cars at their command.

—o—

It's not usually the fellow who drops everything when the whistle blows that gets into the jobs that pay the big money.

Girls of Bethany Union Aid Sewing For Mission Box

Girls of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of Bethany Union church, San Antonio Heights, are now bona fide members of the Ladies Aid society, as a result of action taken at a meeting of the society held in the church Friday. The girls were voted non-paying, honorary membership and their department will be known as the Junior Aid.

The girls were accorded membership because of their keen interest in missionary activities and the remarkable amount of work they have accomplished this summer.

With funds coming to their treasury from various sources, including their own contributions, the girls purchased materials and made 22 dresses for children from two years to school age, one adult dress being included. These garments are to go into missionary boxes, principally for the Kentucky mountain mission in which the Ladies Aid society is actively interested. Each year the girls assist in filling these boxes.

In addition to the good they do by aiding those less fortunate than themselves, the girls are personally benefitted by the experience they are gaining, both in developing their impulse of generosity and in a more practical way by learning to sew expertly.

The girls have done all of the work themselves and have learned to utilize all of their material, even the small scraps being used in pretty contrasting trimmings.

One young girl, using the usual length of material, made an adult dress, then combined the smaller pieces into a child's dress and finally made a doll dress of the scraps.

The girls had many of these articles on exhibit Friday and sewed throughout the day with the adult members.

Husband (to wife in front of hat shop): "My edar, it's no use your looking at those hats. I've only 50 cents in my pocket."

Wife: "You might have known that I wanted to buy a few things when we left the house."

Hubby: "I did."

Large Attendance at Bethany Union Ladies Aid Meet

Twenty-two regular members of the Bethany Union Ladies Aid held an all-day meeting at the church in San Antonio Heights Friday, the attendance being increased to 40 by the presence of several children and a group of young girls of the Intermediate C. E. society.

The members of the society are working on various articles for the annual missionary Christmas box, and much of the day was spent in sewing.

An excellent lunch was served at the noon hour, the February and August birthday hostesses, Mrs. William Littlewood, Miss Maud Forbes and Mrs. Burch, being in charge.

During the brief business meeting the young Christian Endeavor girls were voted honorary membership in the Aid society.

Mrs. Alfred Wiebe led in the study of the Sunday school lesson, while the women sewed. The girls had on exhibit many of the dresses they have made this summer for the missionary box.

HISTORY OF WATER WINS FIRST PRIZE

Ninth Grade Pupil in Junior High School Writes of System

Below is given the second installment of the essay on the "History of the Water System," with which James Beitzell won first prize among junior high school ninth grade entrants in the essay contest sponsored by the Upland Woman's club:

George Chaffey, having returned from Australia, was employed in July, 1899, by the San Antonio Water company to take charge of all future water development. During this time and later on many wells were bought or drilled. The San Antonio Water company, at present, owns twelve fully equipped wells and two unequipped wells which are being held for future use. The company's pumping plants have a capacity of one thousand two hundred miner's inches or ten thousand eight hundred gallons per minute. This water is lifted from depths varying from one hundred to one thousand five hundred feet.

As the San Antonio Water company expanded and drilled or bought new wells, it needed some cheap method of propelling the pumps. Therefore, in October, 1901, the Ontario Power company was formed. This company was to produce the electric power to run the pumps. This was the only use for electricity at that time as electrical devices such as electric lights were not in use in the community. The company was owned by the San Antonio Water company as the water company owned all of the power company's common stock. However, in 1927 it was sold to the Southern California Edison company. The first power house was built between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets in Upland, by Mr. Robert Manley, who was employed by the San Antonio Water company about 1896. He was for many years the construction manager for the San Antonio Water company. Mr. W. T. Leeke was the first president and B. C. Shepherd the first secretary of the Ontario Power company. Some years later Mr. Glenn D. Smith, the present manager, joined the power company.

At first much more electricity was produced than could be sold, so Mr. E. H. Richardson developed his "hot point" flatiron and from this idea the great Hotpoint flatiron factory in Ontario was started. In many ways the Ontario Power company proved a good investment for the San Antonio Water company. In the year 1929 6,386,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity were used by the San Antonio Water company to pump and boost 7,333 acre feet of water. Three million three hundred and eight thousand kilowatt-hours of electrical power were used in 1930 by the San Antonio Water company These figures show the tremendous amount of electricity used by one company.

At the Louisiana Purchase exposition in St. Louis in 1904, the colony irrigation project was brought prominently before the country. The Ontario irrigation system had been chosen to be produced in miniature at the exposition as a model system of irrigation. Data was given for the miniature relief map by the San Antonio Water company, who also helped to meet the expenses. This system was very much like many others in Southern California, but it was different in one respect. It not only used the surface water from the canyon for irrigation but it also utilized the water to generate electricity. The electric energy was then used to propel the deep well turbines which pumped the water from the ground, to be used domestically and for irrigation.

The San Antonio Water company was a pioneer organization in a new irrigation project, as the underground flow had never before been used extensively. Geologists and irrigation engineers had discovered, as the result of several years study, that a succession of upheavals and depressions of the Pacific coast line had eventually formed or caused great basins along the foot of the Sierra Madre range. These underground basins were filled with porous gravel deposits, which acted like sponges, storing the water drained from the mountains. One of these basins was located under the colony of Ontario and territories adjoining, known as the Great Chino basin.

Sometime later local engineers discovered that the basin was divided into three parts: the Cucamonga basin on the east, the San Antonio basin on the west and the Chino basin on the south, which extended as far south as the Santa Ana river. The early operations were almost exclusively in the San Antonio and Cucamonga basins. Wells were driven in at Claremont and near Red Hill, but as the wells at Claremont were not being used to capacity, in 1914 they were ordered sold, and in 1919 were sold to I. J. Cree for the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars. Thus the San Antonio Water company's operations are largely in the Cucamonga basin, although they have three wells in the Chino basin. The limit of the Cucamonga basin caused many complications and it was necessary to create a code of laws to settle numerous situations which arose from time to time. There then arose a dispute as to who should govern the use of this underground wealth of water.

In 1920 the San Antonio Water company drilled a well in the Chino basin which drains about one hundred and sixty square miles of land and holds water to an undeter-

Rotarians Hear Report on District Assembly

Don E. Palmer had charge of the Rotary club meeting today noon at The Sycamores, pinch hitting for President Gus Hanson, who was removed from the Redlands hospital Saturday to the San Antonio Community hospital in this city and is still making a rapid recovery after his operation of two or three weeks ago.

A card from R. H. Henderson, who is away on his vacation with Mrs. Henderson, stated he attended a Rotary picnic in Denver.

Orton Brady and A. C. Reynolds, who attended the district assembly for presidents and secretaries in the place of President Hanson and Secretary Wilson, gave splendid reports of the meeting at Lake Tahoe the past week-end. The district governor, David Reese of Ventura, who attended the recent international convention in Vienna, presided and imparted much information and instruction for the coming year's Rotary programs among the various clubs.

An incident of the international convention worthy of more than passing note was the fact that members from France and Germany greeted each other with a handshake and expressed the wish that hereafter those two countries would be on friendly terms, this being one of the dramatic points of the big gathering. It was felt that much was accomplished toward international understanding and peace at the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Klindt spent Sunday enjoying the beach sports at Laguna Beach.

Customer (indignantly): "That parrot you sold me hadn't been in the house a day before it began to swear dreadfully."

Dealer: "Well, madam, you asked me for one that would be quick to learn."

"Look here, waiter, is this peach or apple pie?"

"Can't you tell from the taste?"

"No, I can't."

"Well, then, what difference does it make?"

"Your maid plays the violin. Has she got a good ear?"

"Oh, yes; it'll fit any keyhole in the house."

She: "What are those holes in that fence?"

He: "Those are knot holes."

She: "They are too holes."

1932 Auto Plates To Use Same Color

California's atuomobile license plates will always be orange and black in color, according to present plans of the Division of Motor Vehicles.

This year they happen to be orange letters on a black background. Next year the combination will be black letters on an orange background—and so on.

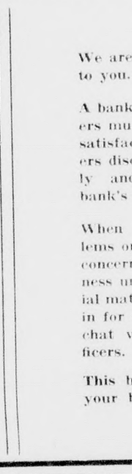

The colors, according to B. A. Travis, assistant chief clerk, were chosen after tests of their visibility.

"No plate has more than six characters on it," said Travis. By using the combination of letters and numerals it is possible to provide for a registration of 2,070,000 without exceeding six characters in the plate."

Etiwanda Takes Slug-Fest in Wild But Close Game Over Lemon Growers

By Paul Weber

Etiwanda outlasted the Lemon Growers last night in what was probably the wildest game of the season. When the dust had cleared away the Etiwanda outfit found themselves on the long end of a 14-13 score.

Manager Enos Leaman sent three pitchers to the mound in an attempt to find a winning combination, but all three failed to show the Etiwanda batters any fancy hurling. While the Lemon Grower pitchers were trying to stop the Etiwanda onslaught, Manager Shepherd was having his own troubles. Kemp, who started off well enough, ran into considerable trouble on one or two occasions and no doubt added a few gray hairs to Shepherd's collection.

John Meek started in the box for the Lemon Growers and got by for three innings with only one run scoring against him. Two hits brought one Etiwanda run over the plate in the second frame. However, young Meek ran into a lot of trouble in the fourth. Etiwanda scored enough runs in that one inning to chase Meek from the box and when Terry took over the pitching for the Growers, he was greeted with a couple of more runs. Before the side could be retired, the Etiwanda team had driven across seven tallies.

The Growers got to Kemp for one run in the third frame and a pair in the fourth. Going into the fifth inning on the short end of an 8-3 score, the Growers determined to overtake the Etiwanda outfit and duplicated their opponents' rally when they pounded Kemp for seven runs. This splurge put the Growers out in front 10-8. John Meek's home run was a big aid in the Growers' rally.

Consecutive home runs by Mueller and Bud Frost helped to score four runs for Etiwanda in the sixth and at the beginning of the seventh the Etiwanda boys were out in front again, this time 12-10. A home run in the last of the seventh gave Etiwanda one more run, and when Terry connected for a circuit clout in the eighth frame to score two runners ahead of him, both teams went into the ninth inning with the score knotted at 13 all.

Kemp disposed of the first three batters to face him in the first half of the final frame and the Lemon Growers' chance to score was over. John Scott, first batter for Etiwanda in the last of the ninth, drove out a long hit which was good for three bases. Then brother Rod stepped up to the plate and lifted a fly ball to left field. Hopkins fumbled the ball and John scored from third base with the fourteenth and winning run for Etiwanda.

Atwoods Capitalize On Errors and Win

Although Herb Dean held Atwoods to five hits Friday night, the Lemon Growers made seven costly errors which the Atwood team took advantage of and, as a result, Glen Atwood's boys scored a 9-7 win over Enos Leaman's players.

The Lemon Growers played the game without the services of Dave and John Meek. The star hurler and hard hitting outfielder were greatly missed by Manager Leaman but Herb Dean turned in a remarkable performance on the mound for the Growers. Dean, who ranked as the leading twirler in the West End leagues several years ago but who was changed to the outfield last season, returned to the rubber and showed some of the fancy flinging which made him a star pitcher several years ago. Herb let the victors down with five safe blows and struck out nine of the opposing batters.

Jake Voth did the hurling for the winners and, although he yielded 11 hits, was given good support by his team mates. Voth managed to get himself out of some tight holes before too much damage was done and settled down and held the Growers scoreless in the last three stanzas.

Batting honors for the winners were evenly divided between O. Lichti and Myers. Both the second baseman and the elongated first sacker drove out a single and a two-base hit. Voth's single was the only other Atwood hit of the contest. Levi Hirschler continued his heavy hitting for the Lemon Growers when he rapped out two singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

Atwoods, scoring a pair of runs in their half of the inning, the lead over their opponents for three innings and then increased it to three runs by scoring one marker in the fourth. The Lemon Growers came back in their half of the fourth and tallied twice to come within one run of the Atwood outfit. The Growers tied it up in the fifth when they scored one run. Both teams had a big inning in the sixth. After Atwoods had gone out in front by scoring three runs in the opening inning, held a 2-0 Growers came back and put four runs over the plate to take a one-run lead.

Atwoods won the contest in the ninth frame. Myers opened the inning with a two-base shot into center field. Bigley batted for Wright and was safe at first when Terry missed Duncan's throw, allowing Myers to score with the tying run. After Bigley had reached third on a wild pitch and a passed ball, Gottwald drew a walk and then stole second. With a man on second and third, Otto Lichti lined a two-bagger over second base to score both Bigley and Gottwald and to win the game for Atwoods.

By winning Friday's contest Atwoods have practically cinched the title for the second half. At present they are the only undefeated team in the league and only have one contest yet to play. The one remaining game for Atwoods is with the Woodmen outfit and they should take this struggle.

BATTERY'S SERVICE WINS LOCAL PRIZE

McLellan & Kuhns Receive Award on 115,000-Mile Record of Battery

Having been used for 115,000 miles, a Willard battery won for McLelland & Kuhns, local Willard dealers, a second prize in a Southern California contest conducted by the Willard Storage Battery company, it was learned here today. The prize was $50.

The battery was purchased from the local dealer by Frank Briggs, Second avenue, in April, 1927. In July of last year, record of the battery's performance was taken and it was on that record the local concern won the award. The contest for most mileage and for the oldest Willard battery closed with the end of 1930, and the awards were just announced.

The battery purchased by Mr. Briggs was of six volts and was used in a truck, and in going the 115,000 miles, the machine saw service for three summers in Imperial valley.

First prize battery had gone 138,000 miles. Battery winning the prize for the longest service had been used 14 years. The record of a battery in Joe Teuscher's machinee, which has served for seven years, was entered by the local concern, but it won no prize.

Women's Work Will Be Feature at Fair

One of the factors which has contributed as much as anything else to the unprecedented success of Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, Sept. 18 to 27, is the department of women's work. Larger, more representative, and more comprehensive than ever before, the department will this year present one of the greatest collections of feminine handiwork ever assembled in the southland, according to Mrs. F. W. Niedermeyer, superintendent, who is being assisted by prominent women from various parts of Southern California. More than $5,000 will be awarded in prizes.

There are 744 distinct classifications covering much of women's domestic activities. These classifications are grouped under nine major divisions which include white embroidery; colored embroidery, crochet and knitted lace work; bedspreads, quilts and rugs; miscellaneous articles including pillows, handbags, stool and chair covers, etc.
